

THE CLARION.

Official Journal of the City of Jackson

LOCAL AND OTHER NOTES.

—A refreshing rain this morning.

—Don't forget the grand excursion to Brookhaven on the 19th.

—A suite of three rooms, desirably located is offered for rent. See advertisement.

—Miss Maud Smith, who has been visiting friends in Vicksburg, has returned home.

—The Gem Excursion to Natchez yesterday was a social success. Everybody had a good time.

—We had the pleasure of meeting in our city, Monday, Drs. J. P. Moore and C. P. Brown, of Yazoo.

—Judge Brame is having a new coat of paint put on his residence. Mr. H. K. Hardy has the job.

—The corner-stone of the new building of Whitworth College will be laid with imposing ceremonies on the 19th.

—The many friends of Miss Lelia Deaty will regret to learn that she has been quite ill for the past two weeks.

—Mr. John McDonnell, our enterprising foundry man, is absent on a trip to Cincinnati, Pittsburg and the East.

—After weeks of intense suffering Miss Carrie O'Brien died on Thursday morning last, at the residence of Judge H. B. Chalmers. An appropriate obituary notice appears in another column.

—Bishop Hugh M. Thompson preached interesting discourses to quite a large congregation in St. Andrews church Tuesday and Wednesday night.

—The State Pharmaceutical Association adopted yesterday a resolution of sympathy with Dr. Byron Lemly in the death of his father.

—Messrs. Fitzgerald, Hancock, Mister, Chandler, Marquis and other members of the Republican party dropped in to see us yesterday.

—The ladies of the Presbyterian Congregation will give a Dime Sociable at the Manse next Wednesday night. All invited.

—Miss Emma West and Miss Emma McMurry, attractive young ladies of Fayette, are visiting their friend Miss Mamie Cadwallader.

—Lt. Gov. Shands, the brilliant orator and graceful elocutionist, will deliver the commencement address at Brookhaven on the 19th.

—Miss Sue Wilkinson, and Miss Lou Anna Hale of Jefferson, left on Monday night for a visit to the family of Hon. John F. McCormick, in Jasper county.

—We have seen some fine specimens of upholstery at the shop of Messrs. Fuller & Co., on the corner of Capitol and President streets, nearly opposite this office.

—Our distinguished ex-townman, James Smith, Esq., handed Mayor McGill the sum of one hundred dollars as his contribution toward enclosing the Public Square. Just like him.

—The iron island on the Yazoo Valley road seven miles north of Jackson, and the road is graded northward to Big Black. The road will be put through to Yazoo City by the 1st of November.

—Mr. A. A. Folkes has a word to say to the public about lumber in this issue. See his card. He has accommodated his prices to the general scarcity of money at this season, and will give you a good bargain and good lumber too.

—The persistent and discordant tooting of brass horns in the old engine house on Capitol street, is a positive nuisance to that neighborhood, and it should be abated. It appears to be superabundant just preceding excursions.

—Fair Lawn Institute will close its present session to-morrow. The closing exercises which were to have taken place on Friday next, have been abandoned on account of the death of Mr. Lemly, several of whose grandchildren attend the school.

—Persons who travel on the Livingston road complain that since the earthworks were thrown up, the crossing between the corporation limits and Mr. Bailey's residence, is almost impassable. Whose fault is this obstruction, and who should remedy it?

—The Natchez, Jackson and Columbus Railroad having made a freight schedule acceptable to the merchants of this city, a very considerable portion of the freights to and from this place come and go by way of the Mississippi river at Natchez.

—Misses Sue and Bee Gordon, and their cousin, Miss Fannie Cross, from New Orleans, were the guests of Mrs. Jno. A. Webb for several days last week. They left on their way North Saturday evening. Their many friends here hope to welcome them back again soon.

—We had the pleasure of a call yesterday from Hon. H. M. McCallum, Representative from Perry county. Mr. McCallum took the train of the New Orleans & North Eastern Railroad, at Hattiesburg, near the junction of Leaf and Boxen rivers, at 12 o'clock M. the day before, and reached Jackson by the V. & M. Road at 3 o'clock the next morning.

—There will be an excursion by the Zion Friends Society of Jackson on Saturday, June 30—two weeks from next Saturday, from Jackson to Natchez. Fare for the round trip $1.50, children $1. Ice water free. The managers request us to say that all bids for the refreshment car must be in by the 20th of June, and one-half of the amount paid by the 23d as a guarantee.

—The following members of company D, (the color company) of the Tenth Mississippi regiment, who were present at the surrender of Johnson's army, were grouped in excellent style last week by Sender: Capt. J. W. Fite, Lieut. J. W. Clingan, Sergeant J. C. Rietti, Corporals A. G. Moore, Chris. Hinckle, and Private R. B. Isler. Adjutant William French is in the center of the group. The artist knowing our admiration of the "Mississippi Rifles" has furnished us a copy of this fine picture.

—Our lady readers who may wish to make purchases in Louisville, Ky., are referred to the card of Miss Bella Marsh, in whose excellent judgment and responsibility they can safely confide. We have known her from childhood, and take pleasure in commending her to all who may wish the services of one experienced in purchasing and familiar with the market. She will charge a very moderate commission on all orders sent her.

—Where railroad trains are continuously passing and switching across the streets which are constantly traveled, would it not be proper for the management to keep a watchman on guard for the protection of life and property? We will be understood as referring especially to the crossings on Capitol and Pearl streets, West Jackson, where trains and switching are frequent, and there is a constant stream of travel.

—The concert at Blind Institute for the benefit of Miss Alice Whittington, was a decided success. The audience was large and appreciative; and the entertainment all that the lovers of music could desire. Dr. Langley and his accomplished daughters, welcomed the visitors in the most graceful and cordial manner. The singing of Miss Alice and the other pupils was excellent; and Mr. Skellenger, the universally popular amateur, contributed largely to the delights of the performance.

—The spire of the new Methodist church is a thing of beauty. Indeed, the entire edifice has a trim and shapely appearance. We learn that the entire cost, when completed, will be $15,000. About $5,000 is still wanting. The faith and perseverance that began and that has carried on the work will continue until the building is finished and every dollar paid. We shall be glad to chronicle a consummation so devoutly wished.

—Married, at the Episcopal church on Wednesday night last at 8 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Adams, Hon. N. L. Hatch, of Aberdeen, and Miss Lizzie Cooper, of Jackson. A large and attentive concourse of friends and well wishers of the bride and groom, were present. After the ceremony the happy pair repaired to the train on which they left for their future home at Aberdeen.

—The Clarion extends to the many groom and his beautiful bride its sincere congratulations. May their pathway through life be illumined by the radiance which is shed from two hearts that beat as one, and strewn with the rarest and most fragrant flowers of wedded life.

—The entertainment complimentary to our ex-townman, Mr. James Smith, announced for last Wednesday night, at the residence of Mr. C. H. Manish, was a complete success. It was a fitting, well-timed tribute to a gentleman who has endeared himself to this community. The residence and grounds were elegantly decorated and illuminated for the occasion, and the large company of ladies and gentlemen who called to pay their respects, improved the time in social converse. During the evening addresses were made by Mayor McGill, Gov. Lowry, Col. Wm. French, of Vicksburg, Gen. Wirt Adams and Rev. Dr. Hunter. To all which Mr. Smith responded in a very entertaining manner. A sumptuous feast had been spread in the spacious dining room, which was superintended by Mrs. Thos. Green, Mrs. J. P. Stevens, Mrs. J. H. Boyd and Mrs. J. L. Power. Altogether it was an event that will be long and pleasantly remembered.

—The Whitworth College Alumni Excursion train will leave Canton next Tuesday morning at 6:10 o'clock, and will pass Jackson at 6:10. The fare for the round trip from Jackson will be only $1.25. The train will leave Brookhaven, returning, at 10:15 p. m. The commencement exercises on Tuesday morning will be specially interesting. Sixteen young ladies will graduate. Lt. Gov. Shands will be orator of the day; and there will be addresses by Drs. Gallop, Andrews, Gen. Randall Gibson, Maj. Barksdale and others. The foundation stone of the new College building will be laid by the Masonic fraternity in the afternoon, and there will be a delightful entertainment by the girls at night; so that the entire time will be fully and pleasantly occupied. Excursion tickets are for sale at the Edwards House and Ledbetter's drug store.

OBITUARY.

Our last tribute of respect, was offered to one of our young men who was summoned to pay the debt of nature at the early age of twenty-one years. To-day we are called to mourn the death of an old citizen who had nearly three times the allotted by the Psalmist to human life. Mr. SAMUEL LEMLY was born in Salisbury, North Carolina, October 24, 1819. He died in Jackson, Mississippi, June 11th, 1883. In 1840, with other members of his family he moved to Smith county, Mississippi; and in March, 1845, he came to Jackson and commenced merchandising—a pursuit which he perseveringly followed with success until his death. He had been in ill health for several years, but such was his devotion to business, and fondness for his family circle, that though earnestly persuaded by his physician and friends to leave for relaxation and recuperation, he declined to take their advice. The sickness with which he died was of three days' duration only.

Mr. Lemly's whole life was an example of industry and worthy of imitation. He was unobtrusive in society, but a man of positive convictions and followed them fearlessly. He did many generous deeds, without ostentation. He was kind to his friends, and his attachments were strong. He was affectionately devoted to his domestic relations. He was an honest man, a model citizen and a practical member of his church for more than fifty years. He died lamented by all who knew him, at peace with the world, and with his God. What higher tribute could be paid him? To those who are yet spared, let the solemn admonition be heeded: "Work while it is day, for the night comes when no man can work."

DIED.

In this city at the residence of Judge Chalmers on Thursday, 7th inst., CAROL E. GLESS, daughter of Mrs. Sally E. Gless, of New Orleans, and of her late husband, Dr. Jno. W. Glenn deceased, in the 26th year of her age.

To say of her all that the heart prompts and truth would warrant would seem to those who knew her not, but the customary adulation of the obituary notice, and to those who knew her best but sent and simple justice.

The charm of person and manner which attracted the stranger, and the winning courtesy and sweetness which so quickly converted the chance acquaintance into a friend, were to those who knew her best and saw her in the daily walks of life almost lost sight of in admiration of nobler and yet higher qualities.

She united in a rare degree a masculine mind with feminine grace. Thoughtful, independent, and self-reliant, she was the most useful of human beings, and subordinated every desire and aspiration of her own to the happiness of those to whom she was at once the prop and the gentler and tenderer of dependents; while through and over every element of her character there breathed a refinement, a sweetness and a purity that taught us how there may dwell on earth those who are only a little lower than the angels.

It is hard, oh! to say to give her up! Let us meekly kiss the rod that smites and try to forget our grief in the assurance of her perfect bliss. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

FOR THE CLARION.

Wm. M. BRYAN was born in Maryland county, Alabama, February 7, 1836, and departed this life in Paulding, Miss., May 15, 1883, aged 47 years, 3 months, 11 days.

He was married to Miss Mary Morgan, of Oak Grove, Miss., October 14, 1857, and in 1858 removed to Jasper county, Miss., and settled near Chilbride. In December, 1864, he moved to Paulding, Miss., and engaged in the mercantile business, and lived in or near this place till his death.

In 1871, he was elected Sheriff of Jasper county, and was re-elected each term of office until he had been Sheriff two years in succession, and then voluntarily retired from reelection.

Jackson no man who had been in public life so long, had fewer enemies. He was a favorite with most of the citizens of this county. The estimate put upon him by this community, was manifest, in part at least, by the crowds of people, men, women and children, of all colors, and of all the churches, who kept pouring in all day long Saturday, to see the last of their old friend and Sheriff; and as they looked with sad commiseration at his manly but lifeless form, one would say, "There lies my best friend," another, "He was the best man that ever lived in Paulding," and a poor Indian looking at him said, "He good man, me know him."

I have seldom heard so many encomiums pronounced upon any one, such as, "He was an honest man, he was so charitable, he was impartial in executing the duties of office, and he would accommodate himself to oblige a friend." Hundreds of people attended his funeral services at 4 o'clock Saturday evening.

In 1859, he joined the Congregational Methodist, at Oak Grove in this county, as a seeker of religion. After he moved to Paulding, there being no Congregational Church convenient, he joined the M. E. Church South. Not long after this, on going home one night from a Baptist protracted meeting held by Rev. Mr. Nelson, he was happily converted, and praised God with his family. He continued an active, useful and consistent member till his death. The church here, and our Paulding church, has lost one of its main props, so far as human support is concerned.

When the church here was burnt down, and a new one had to be built, he headed the list with a subscription of one hundred dollars. He loved to help the good cause. His purse, his home, his life, were all open to the preachers and their families, as the brethren who have traveled this circuit for years, can testify.

Since his death, one of those who knew him well expresses their "oh" unsatisfactorily and was one of the noblest, most hospitable and generous hearted men I ever knew. When approached for the needy I never knew or heard of his turning one away empty. I loved him as a brother."

On the last Sabbath after I had preached on the parable of the Good Samaritan, I heard him say in the presence of a number of friends, if he had ever wronged a single man in Jasper county out of a hundred he was willing to make amends.

He was a man of kind, benevolent, noble impulses. The children loved him. The poor loved him. The colored people, the Indians loved him. He was an agreeable companion, cheerful and happy in his disposition. He was a devoted husband and father, and an obliging neighbor and friend. His death is a public calamity, and universally lamented by the good people of this county, of all parties and colors. He was in town on the 18th inst., to make arrangements to go to Quarterly Conference next day at Holder's, twelve miles south of Paulding. He and I had arranged to go together, and he was to visit me at my house, or in town next morning, to start at 7 o'clock. He told me he would be in town most of the day trying to collect quarters. He was circuit and recording steward. He was going home to dine with me. My little daughter, Mary, was walking at his side, I having stepped into brother Johnson's store on the opposite side of the street to get a hat, when the awful tragedy took place which resulted in his death.

This melancholy event has covered the whole community with sadness and gloom. Several families and many hearts are in deep trouble about it. May an All-Wise-God interpose, and so remove the burden of all men as to prevent the recurrence of such scenes every where.

Our brother leaves a wife and nine children to mourn their irreparable loss. May our Heavenly Father be very kind to console and bless her, and aid her in meeting the heavy responsibilities now resting upon her; and may God bless the dear children, and bring them up to take the place of their father in the church and in society.

G. HAWKINS.

CARMAN—At Chicago, Ill., May 24, Rufus Carman, Esq., late of Jackson, Miss., aged 61 years.

Such is the brief record that chronicles the death of a gentleman who until very recently resided in Jackson, and who made many friends here. He will be remembered as the accomplished book-keeper of Messrs. T. E. Richardson & Co., and was afterwards employed in Capitol State Bank. We learn that his death was caused by nicotine, which created ulcers in the roof of the mouth, and for which he was under treatment when he left Jackson.

Funeral Notice.

The friends and acquaintance of John McDonnell and wife are invited to attend the funeral of their niece, Miss J. E. Ross, from St. Peter's church this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Stolen—$25.00 Reward.

FROM THE UNDERNEATH OF THE RIGHT OF the 29th May, one light fold scold horse about seven years old, with small split in left ear, fifteen hands high, fast single foot, with light rim, white rather short. JNO. GADDIS, BOLTON, Miss., June 6, 1883-1884.

GREETING.

To James Smith, Esq., of Glasgow, Scotland, at a Complimentary Banquet at the residence of Mr. C. H. Manish, Jackson, Miss., Wednesday night, June 6th, 1883. (By J. L. P.)

Accept, dear old friend, this greeting to-night—It comes from the heart: "Thine sincere and true friend: For we're glad that the years in thy torrid flight Permit us, one more, it may be, a last view Of one we esteem for his many good days; To the home and the friends of his earlier days; May thy blessings be equal to all of thy needs—Thy reward at the last exceed all our praise.

When our city was young—in the year thirty-four—A Providence kind sent you here to reside, And in vain through our men's lives to-night we explore For one who in Jackson took a livelier pride. 'Twas here the best years of your manhood were spent—In square, honest toil you ever were found; To every good cause purse and person were lent—Your counsel was sought as prudent and sound.

When war spread its pall o'er this fair, sunny land, And the South vented all in the issue at stake, We know how you spoke, how you wrote, how you planned, For the dear, but lost cause, good impressions to make. Away 'twixt the deep you remembered as true, While your gallant, brave brother, fought for us—and fell!

For your own, and his sake, we are glad to review The memories, the friendships we cherish so well.

With pleasure we've heard of your growing success In that bonnie Scotch land you have honored so well, And for all have to thank I beg leave to express, The wish for your welfare wherever you dwell. We may never meet again on this side of that shore, But we'll remember you, we'll be anxious to hear These friendships below for above to renew.

Resolutions of Thanks.

At a Church Conference held in the Lecture room of the new Methodist church edifice on Sunday morning, June 10th, 1883, Hon. E. Barksdale and Rev. C. B. Galloway offered the following resolutions, which upon motion of Col. W. L. Nugent, were, by a rising vote unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this Church Conference, representing the entire membership and congregation of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in Jackson, Miss., returns most sincere thanks to the congregation of the Christian Church in this city, for the use of their Chapel during the past eleven months. They have always toward us a Christian sympathy and generous catholicity that call forth our profoundest respect and true fraternal regard. We have thus been enabled to hold our public services without interruption and continue all the active labors of our organized church work. Their Chapel was tendered us unselfishly, and is therefore the more highly appreciated. They gave us shelter and help during the months intervening between the destroying of the old and building of our new temple. In now returning our gratitude for this practical fraternity, we pray the Divine blessing upon every member of the congregation.

Resolved further, That the Secretary spread these resolutions upon the minutes of our Church Conference Record and that he furnish the officers of the Church with a copy of the same.

Resolutions by the Methodist Sunday School.

The Methodist Sabbath School on last Sunday morning adopted the following preamble and resolutions by a unanimous vote:

WHEREAS, When our old church building was torn down to give place for a new one and we had no room in which to hold our Sabbath School exercises; and

WHEREAS, Our Christian friends came forward without solicitation on our part and generously tendered us the use of their Chapel; therefore

Resolved, That this School return most sincere and heartfelt thanks to the officers and members of the Christian Church for the use of their Chapel during our "wanderings in the wilderness"—that is to say, until our own Chapel should be built and made ready for use and occupancy.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the Sabbath School minutes, and a copy furnished to the proper representatives of the Christian Church in this city.

STEDMAN & CO.

A little incident we wish to tell you. One of our customers approached us the other day with the remark, how it was that we sold goods so much less than others. He wished to know if the goods were inferior? We could only answer in the negative, and that we sold the same class of goods exactly as others handle. THE REASON WE CAN SELL LOWER THAN OTHER HOUSES, FIRST: We buy and sell for cash. We don't put on 10 per cent. for bad debts, and we save all discounts. Discounts nearly pay our expenses.

SECOND—We buy cheaper, as we pay no middle man; but with our buyers always in the leading markets we often secure goods at less than cost of manufacture.

Our bargains we give to our customers always.

Our advantages are many—and under them

We Dictate Prices in the Market!

EMBROIDERIES, LACES AND LACE GOODS!

Hamburgs at from 18 cts. to 30 cts., that are just half value.

Beautiful Lace at 10 cts. a yard.

An Anecdote of Franklin.

Long after the victories of Washington over the French and English had made his name familiar to all Europe, Dr. Franklin chanced to dine with the French and English ambassadors; when as nearly as can be remembered they drank the following toasts:

"England—The Sun whose bright beams enlighten and fructify the remotest corners of the earth."

The French ambassador, filled with national pride, but too polite to dispute the previous toast, drank the following:

"France—The Moon whose mild, steady, and cheering rays, are the delight of all nations, consoling them in darkness, and making their dreariness beautiful."

Dr. Franklin then arose, and with his usual dignified simplicity, said:

"George Washington—The Joshua who commanded the Sun and Moon to stand still; and they obeyed him."
